The Career Dream Team is sponsored by the Nebraska Advanced Manufacturing Coalition and the Dream It. Do It. Campaign. It is designed to spotlight young adults in successful and rewarding careers in advanced manufacturing and related businesses in an effort to inform high school students about the education paths needed to achieve 21st century skills that lead to good paying careers in our regional economy.

The Career Dream Team is made up of young adults (26 and under) who have chosen manufacturing and related business as a career path. Vogel is a member of the Fourth Nebraska Career Dream Team and was featured during the Husker Football pre-game interview with Jim Rose on the Husker Sports Network before the Louisiana-Lafayette game on September 26, 2009. On December 2, 2009, Vogel was given a mentoring certificate and honored at a luncheon at the Governor's Residence for his participation on the Career Dream Team.
