Northwest Iowa Community College and Iowa Works Offer Free National Career Readiness Certification

Northwest Iowa Community College in conjunction with Iowa Works is partnering to promote and offer free National Career Readiness Certification (NCRC) credentialing to Iowa residents. Information on NCRC will be available and individuals can learn more and arrange assessment times at the following:

- March 2, 2013 at the 2013 Sheldon Home & Design Expo at the Life Long Learning & Recreation Center on the campus of Northwest Iowa Community College from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Once they have scheduled an appointment, interested individuals will be administered three computerized credential assessments which measure work skills. This is part of a broader Skilled Iowa Communities initiative by Governor Terry Branstad.

To schedule an assessment time, contact Sarah Breems-Diekevers at Northwest Iowa Community College at 1-800-352-4907 ext. 137 or email: sbreems-diekevers@nwicc.edu To find out how this can help area business and industry identify the best job applicants, contact Bob Becker at 712-262-1971 x 126 or Robert.Becker@iwd.iowa.gov

More information about National Career Readiness Certification can also be found online at: www.SkilledIowa.org
